Tips for Solving Great Depression Crossword Puzzles

Mastering Great Depression crossword puzzles requires a blend of historical knowledge and puzzle solving technique. Here are proven strategies to help you succeed:

1. Start with the Easy Answers

Fill in all the clues that are straightforward or that you know for certain. These often provide key letters that will help with more difficult words.

2. Look for Abbreviations

Many crossword clues use abbreviations. For example, “U.S.”, “FDR,” or “ND” are common. Recognizing these can save time and prevent frustration.

3. Pay Attention to Word Length

Crossword grids indicate the number of letters in each answer. If you’re stumped, think of words that fit the required length. For instance, a 5 letter answer for “Dust Bowl” might be “BLOOM” (though in this case “BLOOM” would be incorrect; the correct answer is “BLOOM” only if the clue is “Flower.”) Always double check the context.

4. Use Historical Context

When a clue references a specific event or person, recall the timeline and major facts. For example, a clue like “President during the Great Recession” should trigger “Hoover” or “FDR” depending on the era referenced.

5. Apply Word Play Techniques

Crosswords often rely on puns or word play. A clue such as “Bank run” might be answered with “RUN” but could also be “RUN” as in the verb “to run.” Look for double meanings.

6. Use a Dictionary or Thesaurus

When you’re stuck, a quick lookup can help. Many online resources offer historical dictionaries that include terms from the 1930s.

7. Keep a List of Common Answers

Maintain a personal cheat sheet of frequently appearing words. Over time, you’ll become faster at recognizing patterns.
